One

Author's Notes:
As usual for drabbles, this one just landed in my head fully formed. I believe that Kai actually went to college to study to be a lawyer–thankfully, he buggered off with Weikath to start Helloween so we were spared the sad fate described here!

Big Shot

He didn't go to gigs any more. Hadn't done for years. Once, when he was at school and then again when he was on National Service; but then he'd gone to college and it had all gone by the wayside.

He'd always thought he'd pick the guitar up again one day–

Leaning on the bar he watched his teenage son push his way to the front with his friends. That had been him at that age. Now he was a big shot lawyer with thinning hair, a great career, a nice family.

He watched the band, and felt hollow inside.
